

International Association of Emergency Managers Oceania Council

CEM® Study Workshop

To support the achievement of the Certified Emergency Manager (CEM®) credential, a study workshop will be facilitated in Auckland. The workshop is aimed at those who wish to sit the two hour multi-choice CEM® examination which partially fulfils the requirements of the CEM® and the Associate Emergency Manager (AEM®) credential. For further information on the CEM®/AEM® credential, please visit www.iaem.com.

The workshop is targeted to emergency management professionals who already are familiar with the recommended publications and NZ specific information outlined in the CEM® Study Guide available from www.iaem.com. The workshop will be facilitated by Steve Glassey CEM®, who is a former CEM Commission Council Representative and past Chair of the IAEM Oceania Professional Development Committee.

At the workshop, participants will be engage in a variety of learning activities to collectively refresh and discuss emergency management knowledge in accordance with the study guide.

Remember, those registered to receive the CEM® application packet can be issued a FEMA Student Identification Number in order to access the FEMA independent study course materials and examinations listed in the recommended publications list.

Visit <http://www.iaem.com/certification/generalinfo/IAEMsponsorship.htm> for further information.
